

(c) Remarks

The claims are 4, 5, 18 and 20 with Claims 4 and 5 being independent. Claim 5 has been amended solely as to form. Claim 4 has been amended to better define the intended invention. Reconsideration of the claims is requested.

Claims 5 and 20 were rejected under Rule 112, second paragraph, as indefinite. Claim 5 has now been amended to clarify that there is more than one organic compound layer. Therefore, the rejection having been met, it should be withdrawn.

Since claims 5 and 20 were not rejected over prior art they should now be in condition for allowance.

Claims 4 and 18 were rejected as anticipated by Matsuura '233. That rejection is respectfully traversed.

Initially claim 4 was amended to provide Ar₁₃ to Ar₁₆ is a specific fused group. Support for the amendments is found in Compounds [5]-1 to [5]-3 for fluorenyl; compound [5]-5 for bifluorenyl; compound [5]-6 for phenanthrenyl; [5]-7 for acridinyl; [5]-8 and [5]-9 for pyrenyl; [5]-11 and [5]-12 for perylenyl; [5]-4 for phenyl having a fluorenyl group; [5]-10 for phenyl having a pyrenyl group; [5]-13 for phenyl having a perylenyl group; and [5]-14 for phenyl having a carbazolyl group.

Matsuura discloses a spirocompound (EM45) having a specific structure and a diarylamine compound (EM110) having a specific structure as shown by the Examiner on page 3 and 4 of the Official Action.

Amended Claim 4 is directed to an organic light-emitting device having both a specific chrysene compound, a diamino-1, 2-benzphenanthrene, and a specific spirocompound with substituents having at least three fused rings. The substituents on the instant spirocompound eliminates compound EM45 of Matsuura having two fused rings from the scope of claim 4.

Since Matsuura fails to teach or suggest the present claimed invention nor renders it unpatentable the claims should be allowed and the case passed to issue.
